

Welcome to Disyland

We develop our core product Cadenza with enthusiasm and creativity, including a variety of individual Cadenza-based solutions with which we conquer the market. Our heart beats for data with a spatial dimension. Here we are breaking new ground by combining methods from the GIS and BI world. And we want more. We are looking for the right people who want to be successful together with us. We've got a lot planned, so take a close look because there's a lot going on.

We're looking for you!

UX-focused Frontend Web Developer

What inspires you? User Experience – that's the topic you're passionate about. No matter whether you have to coordinate the requirements related to our software or implement them, you always put the user first. You want to create web user interfaces that are not only functional and appealing, but also coherent, accessible and usable on different devices. You want to broaden your knowledge and experience in the field of UX with a complex product that is always growing and evolving.

What do we want from you? You have solid experience in UX and frontend web development, which allows you to work at the interface between design, product management and development in order to create and coordinate concepts for user interfaces. You are creative and motivated to work in a team and make, communicate and implement design-related decisions. You keep up with the necessary expertise and actively share it with your colleagues. You develop and maintain high quality UI components in terms of design consistency, accessibility and maintainability.

What can you expect from us? We develop tools that our customers can use to extract the best possible information from their data. This in turn means better, longer-lasting decisions. Do you want to help with this? We offer you

- Software architecture in exciting "green" topic areas with social relevance
- Great design freedom for innovation in the development of outstanding IT solutions
- A lot of flexibility in how you work to allow for an optimal work/life balance
- And one of the most beautiful workplaces in Karlsruhe and the surrounding region, with outstanding public transport connections and secure bicycle parking

Would you like to join us? A good decision! Quickly send your application to karriere@disy.net. Tell us something about yourself, your professional desires and future ideas, and your motivation for applying to us in a short letter. We also need your CV with all relevant stations of your training and your previous professional life with the appropriate certificates.
